I wish to make a submission to the above Review being conducted by Lord Bonyon. It is evident to me that, from evidence obtained from animal welfare organisations such as Network for Animals and the League Against Cruel Sports that the current legislation is being flouted by hunts, resulting in foxes being savagely and inhumanely torn apart whilst still alive.

I believe that there is only one decisive step that can be taken to help eliminate such cruelty: a total ban on hunting foxes which employs the use of hounds at any stage.

In the interests of reducing cruelty and suffering I would ask that you take this appeal into account in your Review.

Ian Anderson
