Morning [Redacted]

Do you have a contact number for tomorrow just in case of any change of plan?

Also, do you have a preference as to where to meet the minister in the hotel? Maybe the bar for a coffee?

Many thanks

Subject: Research interview

Dear Mr Russell,

I was introduced to you and your assistant on Friday, by [REDACTED] and you both said you would see if there was a slot free to see me, when I am over in Edinburgh. I am a lecturer in Peace Studies in Trinity College Dublin and am writing a book for Oxford University Press on British-Irish relations since 1998, examining the impacts (if any) of the GFA, the EU, UK Devolution on Irish/Northern Irish/Scottish economic and political relations. I would like to interview you about your perceptions of relations with Irish and Northern Irish political parties and any other reflections on British-Irish relations in the Brexit era. The interview would be entirely confidential.

I will be at the Brexit conference on Wednesday March 8, where you are speaking and wondered if you could see me that afternoon, or any time the next day, or in the afternoon, or evening on the 7th? I have not booked my flight yet, so once I know if you are available, I will do so.

Best wishes
Etain
