Hi there and thanks for the response.

Why is it protocol to only fly the Union Flag on specific days?

Why is it protocol not to fly the union flag along side the saltire all the time?

We are part of the United Kingdom and this decision is ridiculous. Who can I complain to about this issue as it's important to me.

Kind regards,

Dear [redacted]

Please see below the response to your enquiry regarding flags displayed at St Andrew's House.

Saltires are flown from the central flag poles at St. Andrew's House, our principal Scottish Government buildings on a daily basis. The Royal Banner of the Royal Arms of Scotland (the 'Lion Rampant') is flown to recognise specific dates such as Royal birthdays and anniversaries. The Union flag is flown from St. Andrew's House on Remembrance Sunday. The outer flag poles are used on occasions when we fly more than two flags i.e. commemorative dates such as Armed Forces Day and Commonwealth Day

I attach a link below to the Scottish Government guidance relating to the flying of flags for your information which I hope you find helpful.

Good afternoon, I've recently passed the Scottish government's building on Regent Road in Edinburgh.

I noticed that there is four flag poles with 2 flags flying, both flags being the saltire.

I'm a little concerned as it looks bad and there should be the flag of the United Kingdom flying as well perhaps on the other 2 with nothing flying on them.

Can you please let me know why there is only 2 saltires flying when there are 4 flag poles and could you also tell me why there isn't a union flag flying?

I look forward to your reply.

Kind regards,

Subject: World Aids Day 2017

Hi [redacted]

I am writing to inform you that on 1st December 2017, the Department for Culture, Media and Sport and the Ministry of Justice will be flying the Red Ribbon Flag in support of World Aids Day.

There are over 100,000 people living with HIV in the UK and there are an estimated 36.7 million living with the virus worldwide.

World Aids Day was founded in 1988 and is a global day for people to unite against the fight against HIV, support those living with HIV and to commemorate those who have died from HIV related illness.

Other UK Government Departments may wish to fly the Red Ribbon Flag on this day, but are not obliged to do so. This is not a designated day for flying the Union Flag on Government Buildings, however, should you decide to fly this flag alongside the Union, please ensure that the Union is in the prominent position.

If you have any questions at all about flag flying protocol or about something else I have mentioned above, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Kind regards,
