

National Child Protection Leadership Forum

22 June 2017

Key messages from joint inspections

Karen Reid

Chief Executive

Joint inspections – evidence base

29 inspections conducted since 2012

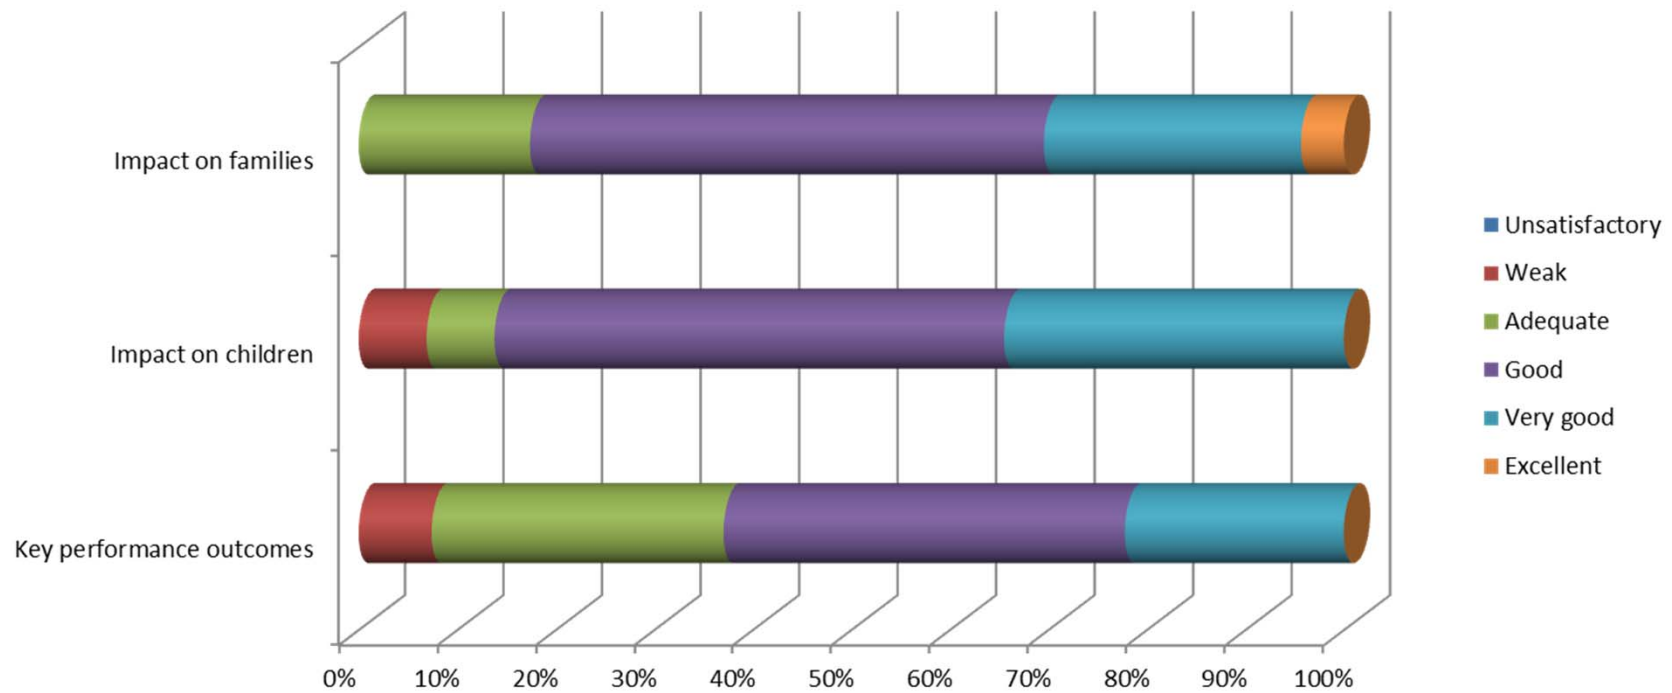

28 reports published to date

We have:

- read records for nearly 3000 vulnerable children and young people
- spoken with around 2000 children and young people
- spoken with around 1500 parents and carers

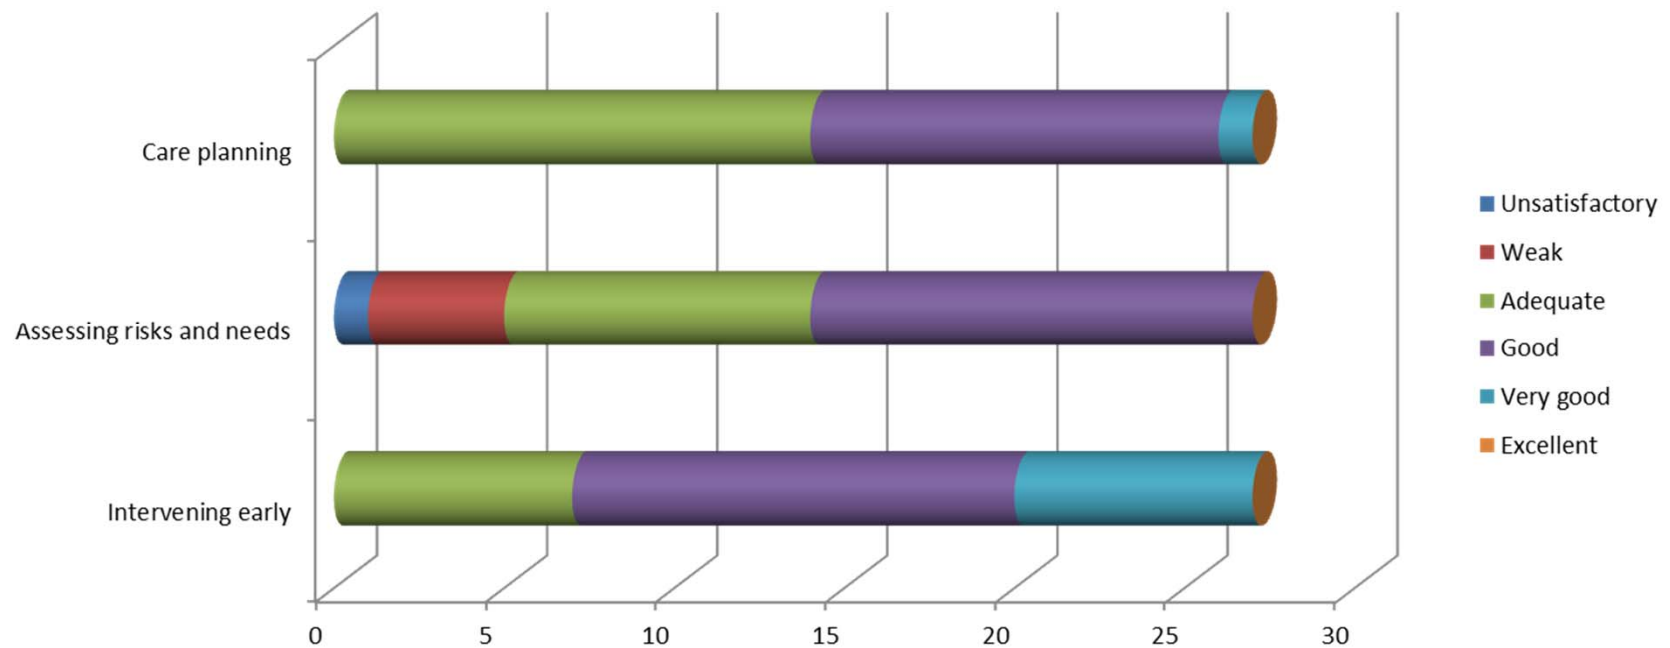

Outcomes and impact

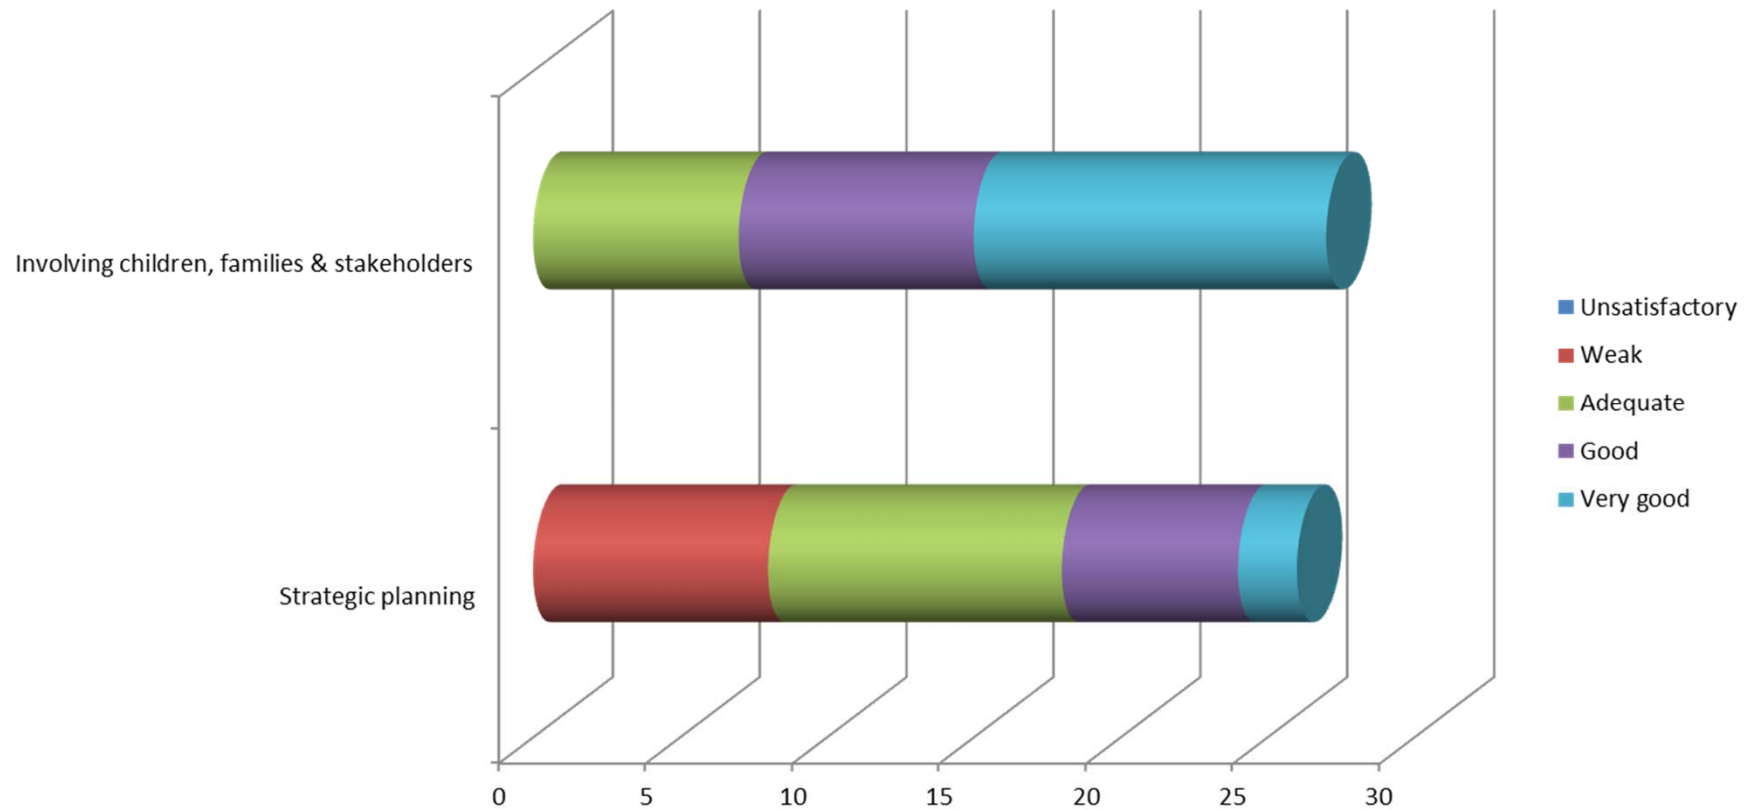

Key processes

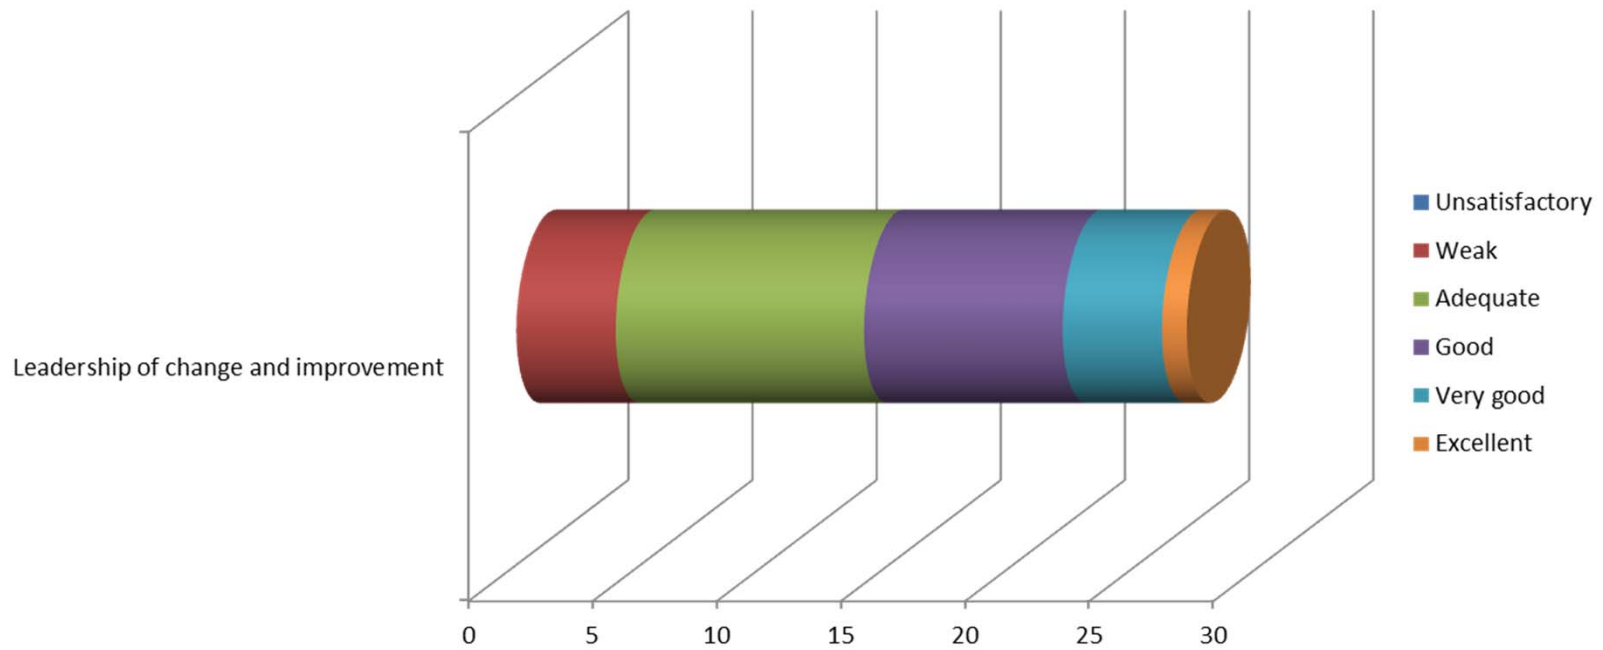

Strategic working

Leadership

Critical issues

- Relationship between chief officers and CPCs
- Effectiveness of the CPC chair
- Use of data and performance information
- Identifying emerging risks, innovating and learning from others
- Embedding practice change

Relationships in high performing areas

- There are strong, supportive, respectful and appropriately challenging relationships between the chairs and lead officers of the different public protection committees/structures (child protection; adult support and protection; domestic abuse forum; alcohol and drugs partnership)
- The chief social work officer is able to represent a strong voice for children and has respect and credibility with chief officers, CPC chair and key decision makers.